Losing the Legal Name is not enough - for me.

It's time to level-up.

Next level: Lose The Lot.

I hereby cease identifying with/having allegiance to any/all man-made constructs, including:
historic/contemporary notions of tribal, racial, ethnic, national, dynastic, societal, social, family, sport-hobby teams/clubs, groups and grouped NAMES and LABELS of every kind.

I hereby remove any/all assumed/presumed consent and agreement with any/all things named and labelled by others. This includes:
the named Gods,
the named Archetypes,
the named Planets, Stars, Luminaries, Clouds,
the named Oceans, Seas, Rivers, Rains,
the named Mountains, Lands, Forests, Deserts,
the named Plants, Fruits, Vegetables, the named Animals, Fish, Birds, Insects and Creatures of every kind.

I give no Authority, Credence, Acceptance, Joinder, Consent, etc. to any/all external constructs and I contract not with the accepted nature, content and names of the 'establishment'-in-general, including:

Arts, Sciences, Ancient and Modern texts, all books, dictionaries, Histories, Religions, Calendars, Traditions, folk tales, fairy stories, entertainments and fictions of all kinds.

I use what I must use to express myself, communicate, create, produce and thrive, though I do so in my own, pure intent, without contracting with another's notions of truth and without accepting anyone else's fixed concepts, goals, ideals, rituals, dogmas, etc.,. Et al.

All words expressed herein are my own definition only.

Standing in ones own truth means no longer blindly, deafly or dumbly accepting as ones own the truth of another. Regardless what it may be.

If it is not true for you, it is not your truth.

If it is another's contract, it is not your contract.

Let others have what is theirs, by choice.

Let you have what is yours, by choice.

Let me have what is mine by choice.

And learn to know the difference.

Time to level-up!
